BACKGROUND AND DISCUSSION

The National Sexual Violence Resource Center first launched the Sexual Assault Awareness Month campaign in 2001, and in 2009 the Obama Administration officially recognized April as National Sexual Assault Awareness Month, enshrining our Country's commitment to promoting education of sexual violence, promoting consent, ending victim-blaming, and showing support for victims and survivors. Sexual Assault Awareness Month is about promoting safety, respect and equality, and standing up and speaking out against harmful cultural norms and attitudes that allow sexual violence to persist.
