Supervisor Alfredo Pedroza reported on representing the Metropolitan Transportation Commission (MTC) and the Association of Bay Area Governments (ABAG) last week in Washington, DC where he and others met with Congressman Mike Thompson and Senator Alex Padilla to advocate for regional transportation priorities, in particular State Route 37. Supervisor Pedroza also reported he met with Senator Bill Dodd, and Supervisor Belia Ramos met with Assembly member Cecilia Aguiar-Curry, yesterday in Sacramento to advocate for regional transportation priorities in the hopes of securing additional resources for the region’s competitive projects. Lastly, Supervisor Pedroza reported on attending the Great Wine Capitals via Zoom that was also attended by Visit Napa Valley Executive Director Linsey Gallagher and a representative from Napa Valley Vintners. Supervisor Pedroza requested forming a committee comprised of elected officials, which was formed and met to discuss climate change, resiliency, and energy development. Napa County will chair the committee, which will meet again sometime in October.

Supervisor Brad Wagenknecht added he and Supervisor Pedroza discussed meeting with legislators and he likes the concept of presenting clear and specific requests for the Bay Area’s transportation needs that don’t have a lot of ancillary requests.
